“ Faye and I have been nurses together for many years, since the late 1950s. She had ten years more nursing experience than I did. She was working with Dr Krueger as I worked with Drs Bronwell and Rutledge.. We learned a lot during that period and it is what most likely guided us through our professional lives. Not only did we learn a lot but we shared that knowledge with so many student nurses, staff nurses and too many to count patients and families. Too, we had the occasion to share our knowledge with physicians and other health care practitioners. We went our separate ways, different practices in nursing.

It was at Texas Tech Health Sciences Center, Surgery Department Clinic our paths crossed again.

Yes, I was one of those nurses who when she walked down a corridor you could hear the swish of that highly starched uniform. My, a thing of the past. A memorable part of our career and life.

It is with honor that I share this memo with you. Faye left a really special mark on health care in the Lubbock community. For that we are grateful, for all of us who worked with her we salute this outstanding nurse.
