“ Just want to let you know after 45 years I realize you were the love of my life. I think I have always know this but have not wanted to say it out loud. After years apart and us going our separate ways you always came back in my mind. I was so young and stubborn and I will always regret not telling you this. After we broke up I will never forget the day you came and seen me at the hospital. I was still angry with you and I can still hear you telling me you should have never let me go. I often thought of calling you from time to time but I figured you went on with your life as well as I did. Maybe this final tribute will some how arrive on heavens doorsteps to tell you I am sorry I didn't try harder . You were truly an amazing man! I hope to see you in heaven because I know that it where you are.

*until we meet again,
My one true love*

“ Billy Don,

My heart pictures you sitting by our Dad, and enjoying each other once again. I can imagine that your days are filled with Hilltop BBQ, and cold beer.

I just know that you are now able to give our Dad that gold pocket watch.

That makes my heart so happy

Until we meet again,

Gala

“ Bill was one of the most unique people I have ever known. He was truly one of a kind. He was a true romantic. He loved beautiful things and had impeccable taste. His interests ranged from collecting beautiful and interesting watches to world war 11 bomber jackets. He was a skilled nurse and showed much kindness to his many patients. He thought his children were amazing and talked of Hannah and Nathan frequently. I will miss you Bill

“ I am fortunate to have met Bill through our shared interest in numismatics. Bill quickly became a friend and I am going to miss him, miss talking to him about Mediterranean food and current world events.
My condolences to his family.

“ I wanted to just say a few words regarding my father in law, Bill. The few times we spent together were memorable and he was an interesting person to speak to. I promise to take care of his son, Nathan and grandson, Andrew. I was happy he at least got to meet Andrew and see him grow up through the photos we shared with him. From the moment I met him until the last time we spoke, he seemed to be happier, which makes me feel good to know that he enjoyed his final days. My favorite memory of Bill was when we went for a walk together and he showed us how he liked to eat the berries off of the tree. It showed me he was a person who enjoyed the simple things in life. May his soul be granted eternal peace. If I could speak to him, I continue to wish him find love, peace and happiness in heaven.
