

Courtney Marie Cope

June 18, 1982 - April 12, 2022

Courtney Marie (Daugherty) Cope died in Lubbock, TX on April 12, 2022. Born in San Marcos on June 18, 1982, she attended Hays High School and Blinn College. She earned a B.S., magna cum laude, in education from Texas Tech University. For several years she taught Special Education in the Frenship school district before entering the nursing program at South Plains College in Levelland. She married Robert A. Cope, a Lubbock firefighter, on June 28, 2014. They were avid divers who traveled to diving sites in the Caribbean, and cherished their many vacations in the mountains of New Mexico.

Courtney's zest for life was reflected in everything she did. She loved her friends who, when in need, received her unfailing support. Her love of family was boundless, and family gatherings brought out her exuberant joy and comedic humor. She was a family treasure. She was also determined to meet head-on any obstacles to her education, career advancement, and her health. To the end, Courtney was determined to overcome the cancer that took her from a loving family.

In addition to her husband Robert Cope, she is survived by parents Cindy and Kevin Daugherty San Marcos, brother, Paul Daugherty and wife Abianna, San Marcos, grandparents, James and Jane Wilson, Kyle, in-laws Mary Kay and Robert Cope, Richardson, uncles Wesley Daugherty and wife Marcy, San

“ I had the privilege of getting to know Courtney as she started her teaching career. She was full of life and a bright spot to each and every day. I have so many fond memories of laughter and mischief during our time as next door neighbors in the hallways at Bennett Elementary. She lit up my classroom every time she entered. Her energy was contagious and her sense of humor was a gift. She will be greatly missed by many. Praying comfort over all who were touched by this precious friend.

“ My condolences to the family, I knew Courtney in High School, she was very kind, funny, one of the friendliest persons I knew, she was easy to talk to, I remember not thinking I was cool enough to be her friend and she never made me feel like I wasnt, she knew so many people but she was always humble. Thank you Courtney for your friendship I never got the opportunity to tell you how much it meant to me.

“ Courtney had many natural qualities that many of us wish we had. She was willful, tough, straightforward, and genuine. She was also kind, loving, dependable and supportive. If she was knocked down, she pulled herself back up. If she wanted to accomplish something, she did. If someone told her no, she proved them wrong. If someone dared to ‘get in her face’ they would regret it.

One example of her steadfast support and frankness is when a friend with cancer told Courtney that she felt ugly because the friend had lost her hair, her eyebrows, and her eyelashes. Courtney replied, “Oh, you’re not ugly, believe me, I’ve seen ugly and it’s not you”

To say Courtney was enthusiastic about every activity, conversation or undertaking she engaged in would be an understatement -- Courtney Marie took it to a different level. If she were tasked with a benign event like “watching grass grow” she would elevate it to a celebration with music, cocktails, and chic attire. She was the sparkplug for our family, a catalyst for changing any routine into the most amazing, lived experience. The moment Courtney entered a room the energy changed for the better. We didn’t expect it of her, we just appreciated her so much.

As a daughter, a wife, a sister, a granddaughter, a cousin, a niece, a sister-in-law, a friend or a co-worker, Courtney left her mark. Courtney’s exuberance was reflected in everything: her clothes, her style and the pride she felt in every project she undertook for her and Robert’s home. It is impossible to look at a picture of her or anything she touched and not feel the passion and energy that Courtney lived.

Thanks, Courtney, for sharing so many good times with us.
