“ Mr Corp was my Law instructor at the Border Patrol Academy in 1996. He was a great instructor and a good man. It's very sad to hear that he had passed. Later on in my career, I decided to teach Law at the academy. It was not an easy job. Mr Corp made it look easy.

“ My father and I never failed to be in tears from laughter any time we did any work together. Ripping on each other, cracking jokes, just loving every minute. He was a giant of a man when it came to heart. He taught me everything I know. I love him and miss him beyond what words can describe.

“ So saddened to learn of Gene’s passing. He and both started out at the Alamogordo Border Patrol Station in New Mexico and then later had the opportunity to work together again in Del Rio before his retirement. I don’t know that I’ve worked with someone who more willing to put in a hard days work. Gene never shied away from any calling and it wasn’t afraid to go all in that’s what the job needed. My prayers go out to Sue and their boys. May God’s peace and comfort rest upon you in the good memories.

“ I attended Ysleta High School with Gene and his brother Justin. Gene was a tenacious competitor on the football field and a good and loyal friend. I will never forget those frog gigging nights in the ditches located near the high school. Gene would freeze a large batch of legs, which were thawed for our annual frog fry. We would listen to Waylon Jennings, drink a few beers, and eat those legs! He was not only a gifted athlete, but also an outstanding scholar in the classroom. I know Gene is in a better place. May he Rest In Peace.

My family has known the Corp family since the 1960s when they lived in Ysleta. Gene and my brothers Don and Bob Schulte were good friends. I remember Gene as a child, a teenager, and a grown man. I know his loss is significant to family and friends. Please know I hold you near in my thoughts and prayers. May the light of the Lord comfort you during this difficult time.

Had the absolute honor and privilege of working under Gene for four years with the Border Patrol in Del Rio. The one word that comes to mind is gentleman - he was old school in the best way, kind and caring, and always willing to help out. He had a wonderful sense of humor and a humbleness that was admirable. His work ethic was legendary. Truly, they don't make 'em like Gene Corp anymore. Condolences to his family and friends, and to those he touched. May he Rest In Peace.

When Gene got his pinky finger pulled off from a horse, the doctor said they could re-attach it, but he'd be out six weeks. Gene said to just cut it off, and he only took a day off from work. When Gene made the office coffee, his measuring cup was his hand. After he got his finger pulled off, we started complaining to him about how weak his coffee was. He had typed up the Peter Piper nursery rhyme and hung it in his office, only he left out all of the "P" letters! When we were pushing groups, we were all more worried if Gene had water, than catching the boys because he always seemed to forget to bring some, but he always had his big stick. He was a legend, great man and friend.
