“ My memories of Jimmie began when Brenda was a baby in Childress. Since that time I always thought of Jimmie and J.W. as being part of our family. We could always count on them whenever we needed them. I spent many summers with them and remember how we would have to go out to Mammy's if a storm came because Jimmie was afraid. She was always happy and such a loving person, and never without coffee and a smile. Although I haven't seen her very much lately, I will miss her very much. There is another angel in heaven, and I am sure she is sharing her love there.
