

Jo Laughlin Reinhard

October 19, 1931 - November 20, 2015

LUBBOCK-Jo Laughlin Reinhard passed away at her home in Lubbock, Texas, on Nov. 20, 2015. Jo was the sixth of seven children born to Virgil and Orlena Underwood Laughlin on Oct. 19, 1931, in Berenda, N.M., a small village just outside Roswell. Three years later the family moved to ranch in Erath County, Texas. When she became school age, she spent much of her time with her grandmother, Laura Earp Underwood in Morgan Mill, Texas, where she attended elementary school. After the death of her father, she spent much time with her uncle Wade and aunt Opal Underwood Holley. After graduating from Stephenville High School, she moved to Fort Worth where she attended Business School affiliated with Texas Wesleyan College. It was there that she met and married A. J. Reinhard. Together they reared three children: John Reinhard of Carrollton, Texas, Laura Reinhard Landry of Arlington, Texas, and Martha Reinhard Rogers of Southlake, Texas. She is survived by her husband, all three children and six grandchildren: Trey Landry of Lewisville, Emily Landry Nowlain of Lubbock, Stephen Rogers and Jon Rogers of Southlake, Matthew Reinhard and Amy Reinhard Wigand of Carrollton, as well as three great-grandchildren, Asher and Garrett Wigand of Carrollton, and Maylee Nowlain of Lubbock, Texas. She was preceded in death by her parents and all of her siblings.

Jo worked in accounting departments for Royal Tile Manufacturing Company in Fort Worth and Prices Creamery in El Paso, Texas. She was also office manager for Yearwood Oil Company, a distributing outlet of Gulf Oil Company in El Paso.

She liked sewing, cooking, gardening, traveling, enjoying their vacation home in Ruidoso, N.M., and playing bridge.

Jo had accepted Jesus Christ as her Savior and was a member of the Church of Christ. Cremation under the care of Sanders Funeral Home. Private family service will be held in Morgan Mill, Texas.
