“ I met Mr. Bravo in 1987 when I was in high school and was a student in Mrs. Bravo's Spanish Class at Coronado High school. My name was Kim Cooper, then. Mr. Bravo was always so very kind. He and his wife instilled in me a love for the Spanish language and culture. When I graduated high school, he was instrumental in helping me get into the foreign languages program at Texas Tech University. I think of Me and Mrs. Bravo often. They were two of the most influential people in my life. I use the knowledge they imparted to me to help me help others navigate this tumultuous world we live in. I wish his family well.
