“ I only knew Roy for a short time but he left a lasting impression. I was lucky enough to work with Roy at Fenice Community Media. His calm demeanor and laid back style made it easy to be around him and his passion for journalism and knowledge made it easy to respect him. I always enjoyed stories from his different adventures in the business and I am so lucky that I got the chance to call him a friend if only for a little while. Roy, you were an ex-coworker but a forever friend and I will miss you.
