“ We never met Todd personally, but we knew of him through my late uncle Frank Davis who was Todd's Great-Grandfather. Uncle Frank visited his Tennessee kinfolk every year for many of his later years, and he often spoke in glowing terms of his Great-grandson Todd. I got the impression that Todd was a very special young man and that he occupied a special place in his grandparents' hearts. Now that we are great-grandparents to a bright young man, I can understand that feeling perfectly. My fervent hope is that Todd is now reunited with his Great-grandparents, with his grandfather Ed Davis and grandmother Glenda, and with his sweet mother, Lisa. May God bless them all in Heaven, our true home. - a Tennessee cousin, Larry Boyd
