“ My sincere condolences to Ms. Virginia's dear family. Psalms 34:18 warmly says that Jehovah is near to those that are broken at heart; and those who are crushed in spirit he saves. I hope you will take comfort in those promises.

“ Virginia and I shared some memorable iris adventures over the years!!! She tutored me as I studied to become an American Iris Society judge; these sessions always included snacks, a good old gab fest, and a tour of her garden-- not just iris, but a wonder of plant variety because something was always in bloom. We went on garden tours and to Regional Conventions together. Our greatest adventure was our weekend trip to the Dallas area to judge and visit a spring iris show!!!! Unforgettable--the events of that weekend are too many to list in this small space-- just know she was never worried when we got lost, because heavenly powers were watching over us!!!! She was "mom" here in Lubbock, because my own mom was miles away in Iowa.

Words can't always express how we feel when we are met with a tragedy. My condolences to your family, may you have comfort from the scriptures in your time of sorrow. Its Gods promise that one day we will have no more sickness, suffering or death. The hope on a paradise earth gives us a comforting hope. May God bless you and wrap you in his loving kindness.
